

Making the Old Chenango County Jail Sculpture by Deborah Whitman and Jerry Barney in 2009

Deb scrapes paint off jail cell bar

Deb sands the jail cell bars

Jerry sets up his welder while Deb cuts the steel to size

Jerry welds the cell bars to the horizontal pieces

Jerry bends the steel into the shapes of rivers & hills

Putting the cut and bent steel on Deb's design of the county border, rivers, hills and sun

Jerry checking the bent steel to Deb's design

Jerry's finished welding job

Deb primes the steel

Deb hand painting the steel

Jody Pod and sons Jody and Tator from Barnes Bluestone, install the base behind the renovated jail

Setting the base with embedded rebar into hole and place 10 bags of cement around the base topped with topsoil

Jerry and Deb installing the sculpture and sign